Area Catholics To Begin Drive For School Funds

$750,000 Needed to Help in Building Carroll Twp. School

Fourteen Catholic parishes in the Mon Valley will launch the first phase of a drive tomorrow for funds to finance an ultra-modern high school building.

Campaign plans will be announced at all masses tomorrow morning. A goal of $750,000 has been established.

The money will be used to finance the building of a co-instructional high school on a 20-acre site just south of the junction of routes 837 and 88, in Carroll Township.

That will place the school in the center of a triangle made up of Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela.

Plans of the school have already been drawn by the Celli-Flynn architect firm in McKeesport. The sprawling building will cost well over a million dollars.

Diocesan Money

Reportedly Bishop John F. Dearden, of Pittsburgh, will pour three-quarters of a million dollars into the project from a special Diocesan school fund.

Msgr. John B. McDowell, superintendent of schools in the Pittsburgh Diocese, said the school will be modern in every detail.

Among the special features are a Chapel, a large auditorium-gymnasium in addition to full athletic facilities and a complete medical suite.

"The new school will be as completely equipped as any of comparable size in the nation," said Msgr. McDowell.

The size of the new building has not been announced, but it will reportedly accommodate more than 1,000 students.

Ready Next Year

Building is scheduled to begin in the near future. Tentative plans call for the new school to accept a sophomore class for the 1958-59 term.

Parochial schools in the 14 participating parishes will institute a ninth grade next school term in order to supply sophomore students directly to the new building.

Plans of the campaign will be outlined tomorrow, but the actual drive will not begin until March 13 when members of the memorial gifts committee begin their work. The general campaign will get underway later.

The high school will serve these 14 parishes: St. Dominic, Donora, Msgr. Joseph A. Kushner, pastor; St. Philip Neri, Donora, the Rev. Louis A. Farina; St. Luke, Bentleyville, the Rev. Thomas J. Walsh; St. Thomas Aquinas, Coal Center, the Rev. Herbert J. Cost; St. Clement and St. Joseph Mission, Ellsworth, the Rev. William J. Hutnik; SS. Cyril and Methodius, Charleroi, the Rev. John P. Sedlak.

Also in Charleroi, St. Jerome, the Rev. James McKeever; Mother of Sorrows, the Rev. John J. Thomas; in Donora, Holy Name of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Rev. Joseph Forysiak; St. Charles, the Rev. Edmund Wiethorn; St. Francis of Assisi, Finleyville, the Rev. Edward A. Ricards; St. Joseph, Roscoe, the Rev. Maximilan M. Grocka; in Monongahela, St. Anthony, the Rev. Joseph Abbate and Transfiguration, the Rev. Paul P. Leger.

C. E. Whittaker Named Judge of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today named Charles Evans Whittaker of Kansas City, Mo., to be associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Whittaker, now a judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 8th Circuit in Kansas City, was named to succeed Associate Justice Stanley F. Reed, who retired Feb. 25.

Whittaker, 56, is a Republican. He is a native of Troy, Kans.

The 8th Circuit covers Minnesota, Iowa, Arkansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota. Whittaker maintains his offices in Kansas City.

President Eisenhower appointed Whittaker as a judge on the Appellate Court June 5, 1956. The President previously had named him to the U.S. District Court of the Western District of Missouri on July 8, 1954.

Whittaker's appointment was sent to the Senate for confirmation.

He is the fourth justice named to the court by President Eisenhower. Three of his choices are Republicans; the other a Democrat.

The new court lineup will be five Democrats and four Republicans. Before Reed retired, it was six Democrats and three Republicans.

The Republican justices, in addition to Whittaker, are Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Harold H. Burton, and John M. Harlan.

$15,000 Damage In Perryopolis Workshop Fire

Damage estimated at $15,000 resulted from a fire which gutted a workshop at the Sproul Lumber Company in Perryopolis late yesterday afternoon.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined, Fire Chief Frank Frescura stated.

He said the blaze started about 4 p. m. and raged until early last night.

Several employes in the shop escaped injury. They could offer no explanation of the cause for the fire.

Frescura said all mill equipment inside the building was destroyed and added that no definite estimate of the loss could be made immediately.

The flames threatened a number of other buildings. Firemen, however, brought the fire under control before more serious damage could result.

Firemen battled the blaze for nearly three hours.

ONE TALKED—ONE DIDN'T — Tight-lipped Teamsters union business agent, Frank Malloy (right) drew a contempt action from a Senate committee when he refused to talk about a pinball setup in connection with the alleged attempts by labor racketeers to control gambling in Oregon. At the same hearing, Portland city commissioner Stanley Earl (left) testified that a teamsters official told him he would have to support legalized pinball games or face heavy opposition from the union at election time.

Senators to Quiz Boss of Teamsters

WASHINGTON (UP) — A spokesman said today the Senate Rackets Committee plans to confront top Teamster Union officials with charges they tried to take over law enforcement in Oregon.

The spokesman said they would be asked to confirm or deny the charges made in testimony before the committee.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told newsmen the union leaders would also be asked whether they were willing to contribute $10,000 to the campaign of Democratic Gov. Robert Holmes if their man were appointed to the state Liquor Commission.

Kennedy said the questions would be put to Union President Dave Beck and Vice President Frank W. Brewster, head of the Western Conference of Teamsters, when they testify later in the racket hearings.

Beck Touring Europe

Beck is now in Europe, but he has said he will return March 26 to testify. He denied he left the country to avoid a subpena.

The committee has subpenaed Brewster to appear before it after hearings resume Tuesday. Brewster already has been cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer another Senate committee's questions about his union's finances.

Howard Morgan, Oregon state Democratic chairman from 1952 to 1956, swore Friday that Beck and other Teamster officials figured in an attempt to take over state law enforcement "from the local level up to and including the governor's chair."

Morgan also testified that Manton Spear — a Portland, Ore., beer distributor and former employe of Beck's son — told him Beck and Brewster were willing to contribute $10,000 last year to Holmes' campaign. He said in return they wanted a Teamster official named to the state Liquor Commission, which controls the state liquor monopoly.

He said both he and Holmes in-

Tax Increase In Washington County Expected

The proposed 1957 Washington County budget calls for a real estate tax increase of one and three-quarters mills.

Introduced yesterday by the County Commissioners, the budget also calls for general pay increases for all county employes.

The Commissioners said a mill and one-half would be added to the general fund millage and a quarter-mill to the institution rate.

The increase will bring the total millage in the general fund to 10 and in the institution district to 12 for a total of 12¾, the highest in the county's history.

Actual figures on the total amount of the budget are not available as it is still being prepared for advertisement and public display next week. It must be displayed for 20 days before it can be legally adopted.

The proposed document shows pay raises of $17.50 monthly for all salaried male employes and $12.50 for salaried women employes. Per diem employes will get proportionate increases and part-time employes will be increased by $5 or $10. All salary increases, if approved, will be effective March 1.

Israeli Cabinet Might Reconsider Withdrawal

Burns to Supervise Evacuation

UNITED NATIONS (UP)— The United Nations today turned over to Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns the task of seeing that the Israeli evacuation of the Gaza Strip and Sharm El Sheikh is carried out as promised.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold cabled Burns, commander of the 5,000 U.N. Emergency Force troops in the Middle East, to meet with Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, chief of staff of the Israeli armed forces.

A Jerusalem dispatch said Dayan and Burns would meet Sunday to map Israel's withdrawal from the Sharm El Sheikh area.

The United Nations itself gave Israel the week end to pull its troops out of the two disputed areas. The General Assembly was in adjournment until Monday after hearing Mrs. Golda Meir, the Israeli foreign minister, promise a "full and prompt" withdrawal.

In essence, the Israeli plan outlined Friday by Mrs. Meir was this:

—The Gulf of Aqaba: Israel will withdraw its troops with the understanding, backed by U.S. declarations, that the waterway leading to Israel's southern Port of Elath will be considered international waters open to all shipping and that UNEF will move into the area with assurances against "precipitate" removal of the U.N. forces.

—Gaza: Israel will withdraw completely from the Gaza Strip on the understanding that UNEF —not Egypt—will take over the civilian and military control and that the United Nations will be the agency to set up civil services and remain in control "until there is a peace settlement, to be sought as rapidly as possible, or a definite agreement on the future" of the area.

If the Gaza Strip again becomes a base for Egyptian raids on Israeli territory, Mrs. Meir warned, "Israel will reserve its freedom to act in defense of its rights."

Egyptian sources took note of Israeli withdrawal plans somewhat sourly and remarked, "We will believe it when Israel's troops are gone."

NIXONS OFF FOR AFRICA — Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon look at a map shortly before taking off from Washington's National airport for a good-will tour of Africa. Nixon, undertaking his fifth overseas mission for President Eisenhower, warned that the dark continent can play a "decisive" role in tht fight against Communism.

Nixon Wins Support Of Morocco Sultan

RABAT, Morocco (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon announced today he has won the support of Morocco for the Eisenhower Doctrine designed to bar Soviet aggression in the oil-rich Middle East.

Nixon made the announcement at a news conference shortly after completing talks with Sultan Mohammed V and his cabinet. The vice president and his wife came here Friday on the first stop of a three-week African good-will tour, and scored an immediate hit with the people and officials alike.

In Casablanca

"His majesty the sultan has approved in principle the Eisenhower Doctrine," Nixon announced.

"The sultan believes that the economic side of the Doctrine is of utmost importance to achieve the long-range aim of keeping Communism out of the regions to which it is to be applied."

From here the Nixons flew to Casablanca en route to the new state of Ghana.

Diplomats said the welcome the Nixons received Friday was the most enthusiastic ever accorded visiting foreigners by this newly-independent nation. The Nixons leave today for Ghana.

U.S. officials said Nixon won a diplomatic victory by getting agreement from the sultan to smooth negotiations for continuation of the United States long-term leases for five air bases in Morocco.

Mrs. Nixon scored a personal triumph by becoming the first American woman ever to have an audience with a Moroccan sultan.

County Chapter Plans Meeting For Monday

Members and friends of the Westmoreland County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children will meet at the William Penn Bar Association club room at 129 North Pennsylvania avenue, Greensburg, Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Samuel D. Regester, of the State association, will speak.

Harry Moore, County chapter president, announces that a daily day care training center will be conducted from 9:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. The center will operate five days a week.

He also said the chapter will continue its Monday and Wednesday classes for retarded children not eligible for the training center. These classes are held from 10 a. m. to 2:15 p. m. at the First Lutheran Church, Greensburg.

Pope Celebrating His 81st Birthday

VATICAN CITY (UP) — Pope Pius XII, brought to the threshold of death by illness two years ago, celebrated his 81st birthday today in apparently robust health.

Today also marked the 18th anniversary of his election as head of the Roman Catholic Church, making his reign the longest of this century.

Ike Doctrine Faces Crucial Test in Senate

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine faced a crucial Senate vote today on a proposal to strip the resolution of its $200 million aid provisions.

The proposal to knock out the aid provision received powerful bipartisan support from a number of southern Democrats and economy-minded Republicans.

Administration forces predicted the proposal would be beaten down but that the vote would be close.

The proposed amendment introduced by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) would cut down the doctrine resolution to a simple declaration that the United States is prepared to use armed forces if necessary to thwart overt Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) called an unusual Saturday morning session as part of his plan for whipping the entire resolution through Senate by next Tuesday.

The Senate just about concluded debate on the Russell proposal Friday.

Russell's proposal would eliminate administration authority to spend as it sees fit $200 million previously appropriated.

The administration has waged an all-out battle against the amendment, contending it would cripple the doctrine.

Damage Is Minor

Minor damage resulted when a car operated by Argino Kootsouradis, of 1009 Morgan avenue, struck a parked car belonging to James Brosick, of California, yesterday afternoon near 14th street and Schoonmaker avenue, police said today.

Ben-Gurion Calls for Meeting

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP) — Premier David Ben-Gurion called his cabinet into emergency Sabbath session today. There were reports the government might reconsider Israel's pledge for a "prompt and full" withdrawal from the Gaza Strip unless guarantees were given.

A Jerusalem radio broadcast this afternoon termed "inadequate" the declaration made in the United Nations Friday night by U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge told the U.N. General Assembly that he did not consider Israeli's Foreign Minister Golda Meier's promise of an Israeli withdrawal from the Aqaba and Gaza regions as "conditional."

Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli chief of staff, had announced earlier he would meet Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns Sunday to make preliminary arrangements for Israel's withdrawal from Sharm El Sheikh in the Aqaba Gulf area.

The evacuation from the former Egyptian fortress on the Gulf of Aqaba will complete Israel's evacuation of the Sinai Peninsula captured in last fall's drive into Egypt. It is the first phase of the withdrawal announced Friday.

Observers believed that Burns, chief of the United Nations Emergency Forces, and Dayan would fix a date for a further meeting to discuss Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and make plans for a United Nations take-over.

Several political parties called demonstrations for today in Israel's three principal cities of Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa to protest Israel's withdrawal from the positions won during last fall's Sinai Desert campaign.

The Herut (Freedom) Party, one of the most vocal of the opposition parties, has opposed any backing down from the Feb. 23 resolution by the Israeli Parliament stating that Israel would never withdraw from the Gaza Strip.

Two parties in Premier David Ben-Gurion's coalition cabinet, the left-wing Mapam (United Workers) and the Ahdut Avoda (Unity of Labor) were in open revolt against the premier's policy of "surrender" and a cabinet crisis was possible.

Their withdrawal from the cabinet would end Ben-Gurion's majority in Parliament, cause his government to fall and probably bring on new elections.

Donora Card Game Raided

A detail of state troopers from the Belle Vernon barracks broke up a card game in Donora shortly after midnight today and arrested 11 men on gaming charges and one man for operating a gambling establishment.

The police conducted the raid at 12:10 a. m. in a shop owned by John Griffin, 62, at 331 Sixth street. Griffin, police said, is charged with operating a gambling game. He is free on $1,000 bond.

The 11 men were released after posting $10 forfeits each before Justice of the Peace Thomas Petrus.

Donora police assisted in the raid.

County Woman Loses $1,000

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A thug invaded the home of a 75-year-old Grapeville woman, whose husband died seven weeks ago, Friday night and robbed her of $1,000 she had received from the sale of her house.

Mrs. Catherine H. Frye said the stocky bandit gained entrance to her home by posing as an inspector for a plumbing firm which had installed a new furnace last fall.

The man, about 20 to 23 years old, attempted to render her unconscious with an anesthetic-soaked cloth, she told police. He then knocked her to the floor and tied her hands and feet with electric cords and a towel.

Fluoridation Process To Cut Tooth Decay

(This is the first of three articles explaining fluoridation of our water supply. An effort is being made in these articles to explain the chemical process by which fluorine is added to our water in an effort to cut down on tooth decay. The costs of such a program and some arguments, for and against, will be discussed.)

Fluoridation, a controversial subject in many communities, will be discussed next Tuesday night in an open meeting at the Monessen High School auditorium.

Members of the Junior Women's Club of Monessen, who are sponsoring the drive for a fluoridation program in the three communities of Monessen, Charleroi and Donora, will have charge of the program, slated to get underway at 8 p.m.

It is the intention of the Junior Women's Club to organize a "Citizen's Committee" to see if there is a public desire to obtain fluoridation.

The theory behind the fluoride treatement is that the growing tooth takes up fluorine, a dietary mineral, and incorporates it into a form that makes the enamel more resistant to decay.

Such application of sodium fluoride has reduced the appearance of new cavities by as much as 60 per cent among groups of school children, so say proponents of the fluoridation treatment.

The treatment can be used if the Charleroi Authority decides a majority of the citizens in the communities of Monessen, Charleroi and Donora request it.

Fluorine would be added to the water processed by the Authority. Thus consumers would be drinking and using the chemical in their cooking.

There are to date more than 1,300 communities which have adopted fluoridation. In many of these communities, the leadership came from the public.

Fluoridation serves more than 28 million persons and according to the nation's topmost health authorities, the evidence is conclusive that fluoridation is an ef-

Real Estate Tax Assessments Show Gain

The assessed valuation of real estate property in Monessen for 1957 has been set at $35,216,915, City Tax Assessor Albert Marchione revealed in a report today.

The 1957 assessment shows a gain of $608,812.50 over the 1956 assessment of $34,608,102.50.

The total assessment calculated at 9.5 mills — the current tax rate — will produce $334,560.65 in tax revenue. This is the amount the City Treasurer is authorized to collect from property owners.

The Fourth Ward showed the biggest gain in assessed valuation, increasing $248,525 over the 1956 figure. The Third Ward, however, leads in overall assessed valuation. Property in this ward is assessed at $14,229,900.

• SMALL HOUSE PLANNING •

DESIGN B 444.—A small plan, designed for a narrow lot, built with a full basement for storage, laundry and recreation. Plumbing is concentrated to serve the bathroom, kitchen and laundry

A separate vestibule has coat closet and storage closet. The kitchen boasts general eating space, large closet and direct entry to basement.

A different exterior look has been achieved by continuing the eave around the house, over the front entry and corner picture window with a planter beneath Wide horizontal siding and asphalt shingles complete the picture. Floor area is 864 square feet, cubage is 16,416 cubic feet.

Homes Need More Housepower

Today, millions of American home owners are concentrating on modernizing their homes. One of their chief considerations is whether they have full housepower to operate their many electrical appliances.

The kitchen, breakfast-room and laundry areas are prominently featured in relation to the rest of the home, when the subject of wiring is under consideration. For it is in these areas that the housewife does a great deal of her work and in which a majority of the major electrical applicances and small portable applicances are concentrated.

It is a simple matter to get a housepower rating, in order to find out if your home is adequately wired, unless the wiring is up-to-date you cannot expect to operate your shiny, modern appliances conveniently and efficiently.

Eighty per cent of the homes in the United States are currently putting a modern electrical load on a wiring system designed for 1930. This means that home owners in 4 out of 5 homes have invested in elecurcal appliances in order to enjoy modern living, but that they cannot get the service from their electrical appliances which they have the right to expect

Electrical contractors are aware of the need for better home wiring, and most of them will render a free estimate. If you do not have the wiring which your appliances require, your electrical contractor can make out a housepower rating form which will give you a composite story: 1. it will show which of your appliances your present wiring accommodates, 2. it will indicate, by the check list nature of the survey, that you will be able to operate all of your appliances after he has made proper installation of adequate wiring for full housepower.

You may not have all of the following electrical appliances, but these are the requirements for the various types of electrical equipment currently found in modern homes in the kitchen and breakfast-room and laundry.

For the kitchen 1 Your range requires three No 6 wires on a separate circuit, 2 Your dishwasher and your waste disposer unit each require separate circuits with two No 12 wires 3 Your small kitchen appliances like your toaster broiler electric percolator, electric frying pan, etc) are all serviced by a kitchen appliance circuit consisting of three No 12 wires The connection is made through split-wired receptacles; 4. Your refrigerator and freezer require two No 12 wires. Your kitchen clock and ventilating fan are installed on the same circuit with your kitchen and laundry lighting.

For the laundry area, if you have adquate wiring: 1. Your water heater requires a separate circuit which is supplied power by three No. 10 wires or four No 12 wires, depending upon your utility company's rules, 2. Your automatic washer requires a separate circuit consisting of two No 12 wires; 3 Your clothes dryer should receive power from a separate circuit of No. 10 wire if "standard" type of No 6 if "highspeed" type; 4 Your ironer and hand iron are supplied power from your kitchen appliance circuit, 5 Current for the lighting in the laundry is supplied by the general lighting circuit

Over the breakfast room table, a convenience outlet which is supplied power by the kitchen appliance circuit, provides a place to plug in the various appliances used in this room.

ADEQUATE WIRING SYSTEM — It is designed to carry the "power load" for appliances in the modern kitchen. (1) and (2) convenience outlets on kitchen appliance circuit; (3) automatic washer on separate circuit, (4) clothes dryer on separate circuit; (5) convenience outlet on kitchen appliance circuit; (6) ironer storage; (7) water heater on separate circuit, (8) electric range on separate circuit, (9) convenience outlets on separate circuit; (10) waste disposer under sink has separate circuit; (11) dishwasher on separate circuit; (12) convenience outlets on kitchen appliance circuit; (13) refrigerator and freezer, on separate circuit.

Wiring in Home Needs Checking

A family should investigate electric wiring in the house before buying additional appliances, suggests Barbara Pratt, assistant extension home economist, Westmoreland County.

The average number of home appliances available in 1940 was 33, in 1953, 56 This number is increasing all the time. Houses built 15 or 20 or more years ago were wired to do an adequate job at that time. Today's wiring may be inadequate

Other symptoms of inadequate wiring are flickering and dimming lights when an appliance is turned on, blowing fuses, radios fading or sounding scratchy, television pictures shrinking, and long extension cords strung around the room to connect lamps and appliances

Fire can result from continued overloading of inadequate electrical circuits

Firelight Cheerful In Home

Living-room walls and ceiling of cedar and hemlock, played upon by drifting firelight, are prescribed by Elizabeth Ayer, AIA, prominent Seattle architect, to provide relief from the tensions and ills that come with grim winter weather.

"The interplay of firelight and shadows on wood walls is a sight to cheer the bleakest soul," says Miss Ayer. "The architect gives real consideration to qualities of mood and atmosphere in designing a home. Wood walls in natural finish are restful to work-weary eyes and breathe a spirit of friendly warmth Wood has meant peace and security to people for untold generations. These values come alive, moving and breathing and glowing, under the magic of firelight.

The Seattle architect has designed many fine homes with interiors of western red cedar and west coast hemlock in natural finishes She prefers a simple mixture of beeswax and turpentine, vigorously rubbed into the honey hues of finely surfaced hemlock or into the darker stains of cedar surfaces.

West coast hemlock cedar and fir also show warmth through the paints and stains of modern decoration under the magic of firelight Modern designers, by use of bright paints in springtime flower and sky tones, and butterfly hues on walls of wood, transform the grim dull daylight of winter outdoors into living-room scenes of brightness and cheer — most of all, when a wood fire yields the relaxing warmth and flow of drifting flames in wall reflections.

"Then," says Architect Ayer "a family living room lives indeed!"

Painting Over Plaster

As warm weather approaches, many homeowners plan to paint plastered walls as part of spring decorating There's nothing difficult about painting over plaster, but follow these guides for a superior job, suggests Mrs. Miriam R Long, extension home economist, Westmoreland county

The standard way to paint a plaster wall involves some work before you apply the final coat. First wash and clean the walls Patch any small holes or cracks and fill imperfections with spackle, a plaster preparation used for this purpose Large holes and cracks need patching plaster. When all the patches are dry, sand the surface smooth to prevent rough spots from appearing after paint is dry.

After the wall has been patched paint it, using as many coats as needed to completely cover the patches. It's a mistake to use a final coat at this stage because fresh patches are not the same color as the wall and the difference shows after it has dried. The patches are highly absorbent and dry a lighter color than the rest of the wall.

The best paint to use is the one you plan to use on the walls. To speed painting, don't use shellac over the patches as paint applied over this finish tends to chip.

To get a beautiful finish, prime the patches with paint. When they're completely primed and the last coat had dried, then paint the entire wall. This gives an even coat of paint with no visible light spots.

Storage Space Is Big Need in the Home

Adequate storage space is one commodity lacking in most homes One way to stretch storage space in many homes is to build cedar cabinets in the top portions of closets. Shelf space is ordinarily inefficiently used, and can be converted to an efficient storage use by any handyman in a few hours. Then seasonal clothing may be kept in these moth-repellent areas, freeing space in the closets below for inseason storage.

A few simple precautions will insure that the job will be an easy one. Work from inside the closets as much as possible and line the walls and ceiling with cedar before installing the floor and door of the cabinet. Since most lumber yards stock ready-made cabinet doors. it might be wise to plan the doorway to fit a given door Using a premade door, it won't be necessary to build one yourself. Use a piece of plywood for the floor or base of the cabinet and cover it with cedar Don't, however, install it until the walls and ceiling are covered.

Decide how deep the cabinet will be and figure the area to be covered, including the floor and door. Purchase enough packages of aromatic cedar closet lining to complete the job. Each package of tongued and grooved cedar, available at lumber yards contains enough pieces of cedar to cover at least 32 square feet of the cabinet Each package of genuine aromatic red cedar is identified by a red and green industry label

The first step in actually building the cabinet. is making the doorway Chip out the plaster and frame the doorway, but don't mount the door yet Working from inside the closet, line the walls and ceiling of the cabinet area with cedar. Fasten each piece of cedar to the wall with small finishing nails, driving each nail through the plaster into wall studs wherever possible. After the walls and ceiling are lined, apply quarter-round cedar molding at all corner joints.

Next, cover the plywood floor with cedar. The floor can be held in place by one-by-two inch supports. The last step, and this is the only one which cannot be done from within the closet, is mounting the cabinet door in place. Before mounting it, however. line its inside surface with cedar for complete moth protection.

Thailand Under Nationwide State Of Emergency

BANGKOK (UP)— Thailand's Prime Minister Pibul Songgram declared a nationwide state of emergency and imposed censorship here today.

"Certain elements are instigating trouble in the country," he said in a communique. "The government must take measures to prevent it."

He did not identify the "certain elements."

Tanks took up stations at every street corner in Bangkok, but the capital remained quiet.

The prime minister declared censorship throughout the kingdom and prohibited the gathering of more than five persons. He gave no reason for the sudden state of emergency other than that "certain elements are starting up trouble."

(In Tokyo the Scandinavian Airlines System said its Bangkok office sent a radio message which apparently escaped censorship. It reported the government acted to forestall a threatened coup d'etat following accusations of government fraud in Tuesday's elections.)

KEEPING IN TOUCH

That mail box on the city corner . . . that post office at the country crossroads . . . what would we do without them?

Life is too complex for us to live by ourselves. Man's interests and his welfare reach far beyond the boundaries of his community. Communication with people and corporations hundreds of miles away is a part of modern living that we take for granted. We have to "keep in touch."

But long before life became so complex, men discovered their need for another kind of communication—prayer. The courage and faith and hope which steel men for the challenge of each day come from God. The deep spiritual needs of the soul can be supplied only by keeping in touch with God.

We think our mail-boxes are indispensable! Even so, one church means more to a community than all its postal facilities. For not so long ago men lived very happily without a postal system. But men have never lived happily without God!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible.

State Highway Budget in Assembly

$600,000 Expected to Push Total Budget Over $2 Billion

HARRISBURG (UP) — The General Assembly returns next week to receive Gov. George M. Leader's Highways Department budget expected to total near the $600,000,000 mark.

The request will push the state's two-year full budget over $2-billion for the first time in Commonwealth history. Leader has estimated 1957-59 General Fund needs at $1.6-billion. Other special fund budgets still to come in total another $15,000,000.

The Highways Department, financed out of the Motor License Fund together with appropriations received $563,000,000 for the 1955-57 biennium. But additional revenue may be needed to meet financial requirements under the new federal highway program.

The governor's office said Leader would not appear before a joint session to present the highways budget but planned to send it to the House on Tuesday.

The Senate Finance Committee expects to huddle on a series of tax reenactment bills approved in the House. Committee Chairman Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) said the bills should be ready for floor action by March 15.

Republicans, controlling both chambers, estimate the bills together with existing taxes will yield $1.5-billion and plan to cut the General Fund budget to fit that figure.

Retention of the 3 per cent sales tax with elimination of the controversial stamp plan collections method is the cornerstone of the GOP "tax package." Kessler and House Republican leaders, dedicated to a "hold the line" on new taxes, have promised no drastic changes in the sales tax other than clarifying amendments.

However, Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford Senate GOP floor leader, said he would "sound out" fellow Republicans on converting the sales tax from selective to a general tax. Mahany's proposal would tax everything but those items specifically exempted.

Mahany said a general tax would return $600,000,000 a biennium compared to $480,000,000 forecast under the present selective sales tax.

The Senate returns Monday at 4 p.m. and the House 30 minutes

Canadian Air Official Killed In Plane Crash

OTTAWA (UP)— Canadian Air Vice Marshal Robert C. Ripley and seven Canadian airmen were killed Friday night when a two-engine B25 crashed and burned on a country road 13 miles south of Ottawa.

The plane, flying from North Bay, Ont., to Ottawa, was believed to have exploded in flight before plunging to earth close by a heavily-travelled highway.

There were no survivors. Ripley was 44.

The converted bomber was coming in for a landing at Ottawa's Uplands Station when it crashed. It was the second Royal Canadian Air Force Mitchell transport to crash in two weeks. The first crash-landed Feb. 16 at Winnipeg after running out of gas. No one was killed, however.

Residents in the vicinity of Friday night's crash told air force investigators they were startled by a brilliant flash that lighted up the sky, followed by a thunderous explosion, then an earth-shaking thud.

A crash truck crew, which extinguished the fire, said there were no survivors.

Bodies of the victims and pieces of wreckage were found strewn about the area.

Bus Driver, Young Friend Crash Victims

BANCROFT, Me. (UP) — Ten-year-old Faylene Hannington who wanted to ride to the end of the route with her friend, the school bus driver, died with him late Friday when a train plowed into the bus during a snowstorm.

The crash at a blind crossing in this northeastern Maine hamlet instantly killed the schoolgirl and driver Ardie Mcenney, 67, both of Wytopitlock. The bus already had passed Faylene's home but her schoolmates said she stayed on "just for the ride" with the kindly bus driver. Ten other children left the vehicle only minutes before the crash.

Sixteen cars derailed and the freight train traveled 750 feet with the school bus pinned to the engine. However, no cars overturned and railroad officials said a spur track would be used to prevent schedule delays.

Las Vegas in The Center of Heavy Snowstorm

By UNITED PRESS

Gamblers slogged through four inches of snow under the all-night lights of Las Vegas early today, and if they took the time to look, they saw nature's own show of night lights in the sky.

The gambling casino patrons—usually impervious to everything but the roulette tables and one-armed bandits — were in the center of the nation's heaviest snowfall Friday night.

Las Vegas also was one among numerous points which reported an unusual display of the Northern Lights. Garden City, Kan., and the Nevada gambling city were the two southernmost spots to sight the Aurora Borealis.

There was snow elsewhere in the nation as winter hung on in New England, covering the area with as much as an inch in many northeastern stations.

A freight train loaded with potatoes hit a school bus in a blinding snowstorm at Bancroft, Me., Friday, killing the bus driver and a school girl.

Further down the Atlantic Coast skies were clear after two days of heavy rain, but there was light snow in the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region, and showers and snow flurries in the Southwest in conjunction with the heavy snowfall at Las Vegas.

Spear reluctantly confirmed most of Morgan's testimony, but said he was talking about "a hypothetical case."

Other major developments in the hearings' fourth day of sensational testimony:

—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) declared "someone has absolutely perjured himself" in testimony about an attempt by union-backed racketeers to take over Portland's lucrative pinball business. He asked the Justice Department to prosecute.

—Portland pinball operator Stanley G. Terry flatly denied testimony that he paid $10,000 to Brewster to get into the union to break the pinball monopoly that was freezing him out of business. Portland racketeer James B. Elkins testified Terry told him he paid Brewster $10,000 or more after Teamsters picketed cafes using his machines.

Shirley Cavanaugh's Parole Revoked; Sent Back to Home

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Shirley Cavanaugh, 28, Pittsburgh divorcee accused of wounding the chief of the city vice and narcotics squad during a quarrel in an after-hours club, was under sentence today to an indeterminate term in the Muncy State Industrial Home for Women for parole violation.

Her three-year-parole, imposed in 1954 on a robbery charge, was revoked riday by Judge Harry M. Montgomery because of the "general course of her history."

Miss Cavanaugh, who has a record of prostitution convictions, had been freed Wednesday on $5,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to kill which resulted from the wounding of Acting Lt. Allen Carnahan at the ABA club early Sunday morning.

The probation was imposed three years ago when she pleaded guilty to entering the home of the mother of her former husband in Wilkinsburg, and removing a picture of him, a camera, ring and two books. Value of the articles was $45.

Violates Probation

Mrs. Florine Koegler, probation officer, said Miss Cavanaugh had violated her probation by making four trips outside the court's jurisdiction with Lt. Carnahan. The officer said the woman also had changed addresses without notifying authorities and had frequented drinking establishments.

Attorney John V. Snee, counsel for Miss Cavanaugh, said he would file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus within 10 days. He said the probation was illegal because she was denied right to counsel.

"Publicity has brought this case into focus," Snee told Judge Montgomery.

The judge said he was not revoking the probation, which would have expired next month, because of any single incident, but rather the general course of the defendant's conduct.

Later, Snee gave the girl's account of the shooting of Carnahan with whom she said she had been having a love affair.

"Shirley says that Carnahan was seated at the bar in the club and started to pull his gun out," Snee said. "She says she hit his hand and the gun went off. She never had the gun in her hand."

Carnahan was wounded in both thighs and the groin. Following the shooting, the policeman first said he had accidentally shot himself, but he later changed his story and named Miss Cavanaugh as the gun-wielder.

A full-scale investigation of the shooting by Director of Public Safety Louis Rosenberg opened Friday. The director questioned a number of police officials and detectives at a day-long closed session.

Three Firemen Die in Blaze

CHICAGO (UP)— Officials today investigated a blaze and explosion which killed three firemen and injured two others.

Two of the victims were officers who had attempted to clear firemen away from a danger area as flames raced through the Lawrence Co. food-processing plant Friday. A series of blasts quaked the area and two of the walls started to crumble. A fireman screamed "Look out for the wall!" just as part of the roof caved-in.

Irish Raiders Seize Train; Wreck Station

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (UP)—Armed raiders seized a 27-car freight train before dawn today and sent it careening without a crew 14 miles down an empty track to a smashup at this Northern Ireland station.

No one was injured but part of the station and eight of the cars on the train were demolished.

The seizure was one of the most daring of a long series of sorties against security forces and public utility forces in Northern Ireland blamed on the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The train's wild ride through five stations began at the border between the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland.

Police launched an immediate search for the raiders.

Friday night, raiders set fire to the railroad office here and threw a bomb at the county court building a quarter of a mile away which failed to explode.

The emergence of the public health program is backed up by nearly 50 years of research.

In the three cities of Newburgh, N. Y., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Brantford, Ontario, Canada, after 10 years of observation, it was found that dental decay was reduced up to an average of 60 per cent among children.

Included among the organizations favoring the measure are the American Dental Association, the American Medical Association, the U. S. Public Health Service, the Pennsylvania Department of Health and the National Research Council.

Fluorine is not a medicine any more than chlorine, these organizations say. It is not a cure-all. It cannot eliminate tooth decay. It can do nothing about teeth that are already decayed. It is a preventative which in some communities has reduced the incidence of tooth decay by two-thirds.

Where objection to fluoridation of a water supply has been raised, and there are some objections expected to be made here, the principal objectors usually have been members of a religious group who believe fluoridation constitutes medication and those who fear an economic threat to the sale of such items as vitamin and mineral preparations.

According to the American Dental Association, those opposing fluoridation for the most part have used "false, misleading and emotional charges" based on "undocumented and unscientific supporting material."

Westinghouse Plans Big Trafford Plant; To Use 950 Workers

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. has announced plans for a new multi-million dollar plant at Trafford, Pa.

The new facility will house the power circuit breaker department, now part of the switchgear division at the firm's East Pittsburgh plant.

L. B. McCully, vice president in charge of the East Pittsburgh operations, said growing pains forced the company to move a section of its works out of the Turtle Creek valley. The new plant will be in Westmoreland County, a few miles east of East Pittsburgh.

The operation will employ about 950 workers, McCully said. No date for initial construction has been set.

The International Union of Electrical Workers Local 601, which represents workers at the East Pittsburgh plant, at first tried to block the expansion move.

The union local, after studying an alternative which might have forced the whole department out of the state, voted last weekend to go along with the change. About 400 workers at East Pittsburgh will be affected by the move.

McCully explained "customer demand for such switchgear apparatus as circuit breakers, switchboards and other similar equipment has been growing steadily. With existing facilities we knew we could not keep up with the demand, remain competitive, and at the same time insure the job security of our employes."

The official said "topographical conditions" at East Pittsburgh prohibited expansion at the Turtle Creek plant.

Good Sense Ends Another Crisis

THE SETTLEMENT which has been reached in the latest Middle East crisis appears to be a compromise based on the realities of the general situation prevailing between Israel and its Arab neighbors. This, of course, is true of the settlements of most international disputes.

Israel, as it was bound to do, has agreed to withdraw its troops promptly from the Egyptian territory which it has been occupying since the mass invasion last fall.

And in their place for the time being, in order to prevent recurrence of border raids back and forth, will be a United Nations military force like the one already stationed in the Suez area.

Israel has not, of course, received the firm and unconditional "guarantees" which Premier Ben-Gurion had been insisting upon with respect to the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba before pulling back the Israel forces.

But, at least as far as the United States is concerned, this is a technical difference. For it seems quite plain that the U. S. government has assumed a heavy moral obligation, implied if not flatly stated, to see to it that the Arabs do not resume their old harrassment of Israel.

* * *

THIS COMPROMISE arrangement does not, to be sure, settle any of the basic difficulties between Israel and the Arab states. It does not pretend to.

But it does, as President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have been trying to show the Israeli leaders, form the basis — the only possible basis — for negotiation about some of the deep-seated problems of the area. Before such negotiations could possibly begin it was necessary for Israel to renounce the use of force and to undo what it has tried to do by force.

Now that Israel has accepted this point of view, we should think some of the pressure which the United States and the United Nations have been exerting against Israel in recent weeks — rightly, we have believed — will have to be shifted to the Arab leaders, for the American people and their government have not lost sight of the fact that Israel's attack on Egypt, while wrong on the face of it, was nevertheless provoked by Egypt's own conduct. And if we are going to make any progress from here on, Egypt, and not just Israel, will have to mend its ways and make its contribution.

* * *

ONE THING needs to be kept firmly in mind, however, as the peacemaking labors continue in the Middle East. And that is that no amount of diplomacy and mediation, no matter how skillful and patient it may be, is going to make people who hate each other behave as trusting neighbors.

Dorothy Thompson, who has been one of the sanest and most courageous American journalists studying the problems of the Middle East, wrote the other day:

"I know no peaceable way that the Arab states can be compelled to recognize Israel or cease to continue to show her a cold shoulder."

This is a perfectly simple statement involving basic human relations. But it is too often overlooked by those who refuse to be content with less than the millenium in international affairs.

The best we can hope for in the foreseeable future as between Israel and the Arab nations is that they shall quit making war on each other, either openly with their organized armies or by their night-riders; that they shall observe the decencies of international conduct, and that the legal rights of all concerned shall be respected and protected.

Such an environment represents a realistic, attainable goal for American and United Nations policy. And if it does not satisfy the zealots on both sides, we feel sure it will satisfy the vast dispassionate majority.

Action Needed

THE MONESSEN city council and the Donora borough council should, we believe, take up the cudgels actively and cooperatively to have their communities represented on the organization which supplies them with water service.

Although the Charleroi Authority serves all three towns, only Charleroi residents now serve on its board. And Charleroi itself uses much less than one-third of the water which flows through the system.

The injustice of this is self-evident. But it is hardly realistic to expect that Charleroi will correct it voluntarily. The impetus will have to come from Monessen and Donora.

As a start there should be a determination as to whether the law as now written and the covenants between the Authority and its bondholders will permit its control to be broadened. If they will, then negotiations towards that end should be opened.

If not, Monessen and Donora officials and civic leaders should promptly get behind the necessary legislation. Not to do so, in our opinion, will be to neglect a vital interest of the both communities.

Probers not Getting Full Oregon Story

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senator McClellan's investigating committee is doing an important job of exposing Teamster racketeering, some of it, incidentally, reported by this column beginning April 30, 1956. However, the senators aren't giving the full story on the Portland, Ore., underworld.

Mr. Pearson

When McClellan called big, gum-chewing Jim Elkins as his prize witness, it was known that Elkins had something of an underworld history, but it wasn't known how much of a history, nor was it mentioned that he is out to elect city Councilman Stanley Earl as next mayor of Portland.

Big Jim is also bent on retaliation against the elements that knocked him out of the pinball machine racket, namely the Teamsters. They deserve retaliation. But one untold sidelight is that Big Jim and his friend Stanley Earl would not be averse to using the McClellan hearings as a publicity megaphone to help take control of the city of Portland.

Earl, now a city councilman, is assuming the role of a reformer. Truth is, the city councilman began his career as a bouncer in one of the Elkins brothers' after-hours joints, once was jailed for strong-arm tactics in union activities, Oct. 8, 1942 in Spokane; and wrote a strong letter trying to get a pardon for Big Jim Elkins after Elkins was thrown into an Arizona jail for assault with intent to kill.

This is the man who is helping turn the spotlight on the Teamsters. They deserve the spotlight. But so does the other side. And here is the further record of the other man, Big Jim Elkins, who is exposing the Teamsters and who wants to make his pal, Stanley Earl, mayor of Portland.

A Sordid Record

The Senate Committee treated Elkins gently, making only hurried reference to his sordid background. The fact is that he has a three-page record for everything from attempted murder to dope smuggling. His first rap was for stealing a car back in 1920. Later he branched out into burglary and dope smuggling. Federal agents picked him up in 1932 for attempting to smuggle heroin into the country. While out under bail, he was surprised by police in the act of burglarizing a warehouse in Gila County, Ariz. Elkins and his accomplice shot their way out of the police trap but were captured two hours later. Elkins got a 20-30 year term for assault with intent to kill, was paroled in 1936, but promptly tossed back in the clink for getting mixed up with a gang of warehouse thieves. The next year, he was released into the custody of his brother, Fred, on the pledge he would keep out of Arizona.

Big Jim went to Oregon, where he was arrested for armed robbery involving the removal of slot machines. This ended in a gun fight with the intended victims, and Elkins was wounded in the shoulder. At the trial, the witnesses against him failed to show up. One was quoted in the newspapers as saying, "I was run out of Portland at the point of a gun."

On Sept. 11, 1938, Elkins picked up a shipment of heroin at the Portland Railway Express depot, after which federal agents picked him up. This landed him in Leavenworth, where he resided until 1940. Back in Portland, he resumed his underworld activities.

Would Legalize Pinballs

Big Jim is now under indictment on a long list of counts for alleged wire-tapping and underworld activity.

Of all Elkins' connections, the big untold story is his tie with Councilman Stanley Earl. This is the part the Senate Committee isn't telling about in its probe into Portland racketeering.

The two men have been close for years. Starting as a bouncer for the Elkins brothers, Earl worked his way up in the CIO, was sent to Korea as a U. S. labor representative, got back before the Korean War, began devoting himself to Portland politics and was elected to the city council in 1952.

At the time of Earl's election, his friend Big Jim Elkins bossed Portland's pinball industry, along with other underworld enterprises. Pinball machines were supposed to be illegal, and one of Earl's first acts after becoming councilman was to propose legal pinball machines.

Teamsters Move In

Meanwhile the Teamsters began moving in. Their excuse was a drive to organize workers who handled pinballs. This Elkins saw as a move to squeeze him out, and at first he tried to make a deal. He even applied for membership in the Teamsters. But he was turned down, and the union notified him that if he persisted in operating his machines, it would put him on the unfair list.

Eisenhower Doctrine in Trouble

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Eisenhower Doctrine — economic aid and military support for the Middle East nations against Communist aggression — is in some trouble in the Senate.

Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson is making no present headway toward getting unanimous consent to a vote. First a Democratic Senator—Wayne Morse of Oregon — and then a Republican — George Malone of Nevada — objects, and the desultory, repetitive debate drones on.

Mr. Drummond

Amendments which would have emptied the resolution of all meaning and which were decisively defeated by bi-partisan votes in committee, are now being brought to the floor by Democratic Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and others. They will provide more days of debate though they will be defeated.

Backed by Leaders

The Eisenhower resolution, constructively re-worded by the Senate, has the full-bodied support of the leaders of both parties, Senator Johnson and Sen. William F. Knowland of California. Yet it is encountering far more resistance and delay than the administration expected.

I am not suggesting that the President's resolution will fail to pass. That's not the danger. It will pass. The danger is that the delay in passing it and the size of the opposition will leave the impression with Moscow — and with our friends in the Middle East — that the President has only indifferent support behind him. Such an impression could seriously undermine the value of the "doctrine" since its primary purpose is to remove all doubt that the U. S. means business when it says we will not accept Communist aggression in the Middle East.

There are three factors which, I believe, have contributed most to stirring Democratic opposition:

1 — The widespread feeling among Democratic leaders that the Republicans took unfair advantage of the "peace issue" in the presidential campaign plus frustration over the fact that when events belied "campaign oratory" they did not affect Mr. Eisenhower's popularity.

The Democrats quickly recall that in a simulated press conference Mr. Eisenhower dramatically assured the country that he had "good news" about a prospective Egyptian agreement on operating the Suez Canal. It never developed. They recall that Vice President Nixon assured the country that a Republican victory would be the best way to secure peace in the Middle East — and that shortly thereafter four nations were at war in Egypt.

It is the genuine conviction of some that if the Eisenhower administration hadn't talked "peace" so hard, it never would have needed to ask Congress to pass a resolution to prove to the Soviet Union that we weren't going pacifist.

Resent Leaks

2 — The Democrats deeply resented the action of a high official of the administration leading the information about the new "Eisenhower Doctrine" to the press three days before the President's conference with the congressional leaders. They say this was not only a discourtesy but a deliberate tactic of confronting them with an accomplished fact which made genuine negotiation over the resolution impossible.

3 — There is growing political opposition to the whole economic aid program though public support still seems to hold firm. About a dozen Southern senators will vote against the Eisenhower resolution primarily because they oppose its economic side.

Over 20 'No' Votes Seen

The outlook now is that there will be a minimum of 20, perhaps as many as 30, votes against the Eisenhower Doctrine in the Senate. The White House is going to lose a number of Republican senators, including Senators Jenner, Malone, McCarthy, Langer and some others who believe that their party is in the wrong hands.

Every index of public opinion shows that the American people continue to place high trust in Mr. Eisenhower's purposes and judgment in foreign policy. In a very large way a vote on the Eisenhower Doctrine is a vote of confidence or lack of confidence in the President.

Asks Questions About Plans for Redevelopment

To the Editor:

Yesterday's headlines, "Redevelopment Plans Announced for City," look great, but I will not be silent any longer until I am convinced the people of Monessen will get their money's worth.

Let's have the complete redevelopment plans before we start developing the tail.

What is the purpose for redeveloping the area?

If its blighted areas you are trying to improve, I feel you are looking at the wrong part of the city?

If it's traffic jams you are trying to eliminate, I have never seen one at the intersection of Manown and East Schoonmaker not at Manown and East Donner!

You can't spend a million dollars every day. Let's hear more about the complete plan before we spend money foolishly as we have done when we built the new high school and the public garage.

These outside experts have never impressed me. I could say more about their great plans of the past, but why waste space.

Let's hear more from the experts and the public before we move.

Unless I receive better answers and more information, the public will hear more from me.

Politicians Find Jobs Blessing or Curse

By HARRY R. PORE, Jr.

Political machines have one common problem, and the extent to which they can solve it, or at least keep it under control, usually is the largest factor in determining their strength or even their length of life.

The problem can be summed up in a four-letter word — jobs.

What a political machine does with the jobs at its disposal can make or break the leaders of the machine. This is one of the first lessons the professional politician learns. Which is why the "pros" spend so much of their time either wrangling jobs for those they think are deserving or finding ways to say no to those who aren't.

Self-preservation being a law of politics as well as of other forms of animal and vegetable life, the political leader is apt to be primarily concerned with keeping his own job, if he has one and most of them have or with getting himself a better one.

With that essential taken care of, he can safely turn to the jobs of his followers, actual or would-be. And how he distributes these or withholds them, as the case may be, is quite often the acid test of his leadership.

Source of Trouble

From my limited observation, what gives machine leaders the most trouble is to keep in line those followers, just under the top rank, who are not content with their lot and not willing to wait until the boss can provide something better. Such underlings, particularly those who have been privvy to the secrets and operating methods of the leaders, can be pesky nuisances at best and serious threats at worst.

It is just such a situation that has the Democrats of Westmoreland County in a tizzy now and may produce the biggest primary battle they have had in many years.

The leader who has the problem on his hands is the cherubic "Buddy" Turner, who draws a county salary as chief detective but who does very little detecting.

"Buddy" for about a generation has been filling vacancies on the Westmoreland County bench by "promoting" district attorneys. No fewer than three of the four common pleas judges have come up by this route.

Now there is another vacancy by reason of the retirement of Judge Richard D. Laird. And as anybody could have guessed, "Buddy's" choice for the job is the present D. A., Alexander Sculco, who has been a first class D. A. according to the Turner standard. Never looks for laws to enforce and that sort of thing, you know.

But one of the underlings, Joseph M. Loughran, has gone and got ants in his pants. An assistant D. A. for many years, instead of waiting in line like a good boy and being first D. A. and then judge, Joe says he wants to be judge right away and to heck with Sculco.

Disorderly Conduct

No self-respecting political boss can stand for this kind of disorderly conduct. A fellow who can't wait in line and take his turn is a very unreliable character in a political organization, and if he can't be bought off with a job, which is the usual treatment, then by golly you just have to chop off his head.

This process can get very messy, which is why the bosses avoid it like the plague and resort to it only when there is no alternative. And Mr. Loughran apparently has been completely unreasonable.

Whether the Loughran neck is tough enough to blunt the Turner axe we shall see later. The preponderance of opinion at the moment is that it isn't, but the serious fighting is just getting started.

At least the situation is reported to be giving the taciturn Mr. Turner some anxiety. For Mr. Loughran seems to be not the only influential Democrat in the county who is somewhat restless. And if this restlessness should turn into an epidemic — well, that's a politician's nightmare.

Jobs — source of power or road to ruin? Well, it all depends.

Groundhog's First Role In Spring Is Romeo

By JOHN H. DAY

I broke up a romance the other day. It wasn't my fault exactly, but I've felt badly about it ever since. I just happened to show up at the wrong place at the wrong time. From the woodland ahead, as I edged down a small ravine, came an angry squall which waked the echoes far around. I felt sure it was the squalling of a lady red fox and pressed forward, expecting a glimpse of the fleeing vixen. Instead a chagrined and obviously embarrassed old woodchuck scrambled awkwardly away through the trees, halting some 50 paces off to rise up and eye me indignantly before moving out of sight.

He had assigned himself the not unpleasant role of roving Romeo to all the fair groundhog lonely hearts in the township. This is his first chore when he wakes from his long sleep and he roves far and wide in its performance. Cupid's emissary to groundhog dens everywhere, many of which have been newly dug out for his convenience. Sometimes the lady says "No!" and apparently this was the feeling being expressed forcibly when I blundered along.

I could hear him moving about in the thick leaf mulch in the ravine bottom. Then he moseyed up the far bank and took off through the woods, his whole afternoon ruined by my rude intrusion. Under a huge windfallen trunk were the three entrances to the burrow where his light of love had snoozed out the winter. She had probably gotten out of the wrong side of the bed.

Robins Tune Up

I had changed to hiking clothes in the far reaches of a large cemetery. As I shivered in the clammy overcast, a contingent of 13 robins sat in the top of a black gum tree and entertained me with the old familiar scolding. They've probably been hanging around there all winter, but they were the first I have seen so far this year and I welcomed them as additional harbingers of the advancing season.

Beyond the large reservoir lie wooded hills that I used to hike across as a youngster en route to the best black-berrying grounds in the countryside. Many years have intervened since I last walked those hills. The car halted by the roadside, and I was over the fence and moving along the breast of the dam. I stood in the spillway below the level of the full reservoir and felt instinctively the tremendous weight of the acres of water held back by the concrete bastion.

Skim ice edged the shoreline, carrying some odds and ends of feathers apparently pulled loose by preening ducks and left as souvenirs. I headed back through the woods, noting the green winter rosettes of some of the perennial weeds. At a grape-tangled area I halted long enough to test a twister bird call. Soon the whole place was alive with titmice and chickadees working up a storm of protest at the fate which had befallen the mysterious bird voice my hands were creating.

The route led across two fences and into some berry tangles so thick I moved into the neighboring fields. Soon I was far from the car and deep in country which had years ago been a berry field but was now grown to scrub saplings. Reversing, I struck out on a diagonal back to the breast of the dam, traversing some upland old-fields where the pigeon wheat moss and some patches of ground cedar were at home.

'Soldiers' on March

Here in these abandoned fields whole regiments of tiny redcoated "British soldiers" were on the march. These little scarlet fellows are the vivid knobs atop the short gray stalks of the common moss known as scarlet-crested cladonia. These red troops, and the yellowing stems on the willows by the stream-side are still more signs that the pulse of the new year is growing stronger.

I missed my objective by several degrees and struck the water's edge about half-way along the dam. After encountering the groundhog I moved to the shoreline, disturbing several mallards and some black ducks, who took to the air with a tremendous quacking complaint. There was a lone bufflehead swimming on the reservoir, and a pair of grebes. Anglers have beaten a path through a tunnel, and came finally to the spillway and the high path along the breast to my parked car.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose for her attire a gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and a portrait neckline emphasized with nylon scallops and seed pearls. The full skirt formed a chapel sweep and the bridal veil was fingertip length of bridal illusion. It was held by a tiara of pearls. ## City Leaguers Plan Benefit Game

City Basketball League officials are planning an all-star attraction next week to raise money for the Richard Kadis Fund. Loop secretary Bucky Lutes promises more information in a couple of days . . . Jack O'Toole, former football and baseball standout for Bellmar High, has enlisted in the Air Force . . . Tonight's West Newton-Perryopolis basketball game to decide the Section 17 title will be broadcast over WMCK beginning at 7:45 p. m. . . . Roger Hotz, former California High cager, led the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Basketball Conference in scoring. The CSTC standout tallied 202 points in league competition. Another Vulcan, Sibby LoNigro, was third in the Conference with 183 markers.

Once again Brownsville High basketballers are selling Easter Eggs to finance their weekend trip to Philadelphia later in the month to see the Class A championship game . . . The Westmoreland County Coaches Association may juggle the upcoming tourney schedule to provide Derry Twp. with an opportunity to compete. As matters stand now, Derry will meet Charleroi in the WPIAL show next Wednesday. That's also the opening date for the county tournament. Should Derry lose — as all the experts predict — then the county schedule will probably be resuffled a little to get the township boys into the fun.

Monessen Not Eligible for Tourney

Incidentally Monessen is not eligible under WPIAL rules to compete in the County show. The Greyhounds forfeited that privilege when they appeared in the holiday tourney at Ford City. The rules limit a school to one tournament appearance a season, in addition to the WPIAL show . . . The 20th Junior Basketball Tournament in Sharon will run from April 1 to 6. This event is limited to teams with players 18 and under. According to tourney directory W. U. Hoyle, teams from this district are invited to participate. No less than 134 awards will be made. For additional information, write to Holye at Box 299, Sharon.

Vince Quatrini, veteran Latrobe sportswriter, has turned politician. He'll seek a school board seat in his hometown. Vince is after the Republican nomination, stressing "modern tempo" and "youthful outlook" in his campaign . . . By the way, Vince recently wrote a series of articles designed to explain the Latrobe football failure the past few years . . . St. Vincent College will play host to high school students tonight during the basketball game with Clairon. The youngsters will be toured through the college beginning at 7 p. m. After the game, there will be dancing at the gym until 11 p. m.

Tourney Stories Are Too Critical

Those reports of WPIAL tournament action in a certain Pittsburgh newspaper are entirely too critical. The same paper is notoriously "soft" on the professional Pirates and Steelers . . . The Greene County Coaches Association has contributed $100 to the Richard Kadis Fund . . . Bellmar school officials have again asked Fayette City Council for use of the community's baseball diamond . . . More than a mile and a half of sporting goods exhibitions will feature the second annual Pennsylvania Recreation and Sportsmen's Show in the Farm Building at Harrisburg March 25-30.

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

The basketball "hots" are hoping that it works out that Kansas, with seven-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, winds up meeting top-ranking North Carolina in the NCAA Basketball Tournament.

These two clubs have been running one-two all season long in the United Press Board of Coaches ratings. One school of thought is that Kansas would "wilt" the Tar Heels. The other is that under the astute coaching of Frank McGuire the Carolinians would really "wilt" the Stilt. Certainly it would be the game of the year.

Walt Splain, Colgate tub-thumper, may be sorry he wrote. Splain advises that three Colgate athletes have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity, and wonders "how many other schools can come near this record?"

Princeton One Better

So what happened? In the same mail, Princeton discloses that three of its athletes have won Rhodes scholarships. And how many other schools can come near this record?

Mickey Mantle had a great season in winning the triple crown but his .3531 championship batting average in 1956 boosted him no higher than fifth place among the nine American League "lifetime .300 hitters."

Before last season, Mantle was not even in the group with an overall mark of .298. Now he follows Ted Williams, the leader with a career mark of .348; teammate Bill Skowron at .319; Harvey Kuenn of Detroit at .313 and Al Kaline of Detroit at .311. Others back of Mantle's .308 are Minnie Minoso, Chicago, .307; George Kell, Baltimore, .307; Billy Goodman, Boston, .306 and Country Slaughter, New York, .303.

From East Coast

Seattle University, which plays in the NIT basketball tournament at Madison Square Garden March 16-23, made good use of the slogan "Go West, young man." Coach John Castellani and six of his players are from the East Coast.

Harry Lux, Michigan State pre-law major, has been a reserve on the college basketball team for three years.

"I should make a great lawyer" he says wistfully, "because I've had so much experience on the bench!"

Gonsalves Bows To Paolo Rossi

NEW YORK (UP)—Paolo Rosi, the baldish Italian lightweight slugger who snapped Johnny Gonsalves unbeaten string at 13, challenged for the title today.

Rosi was unranked among contenders when he squared off against third-rated Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif. at Madison Square Garden Friday night; but he chased lanky Johnny from rope to rope in nearly every round to gain a split decision.

Manager Charley Johnston announced today, "Rosi and I are offering a guarantee of $50,000 for a title shot at champion Joe Brown — at any site Brown selects."

Cro-Ams Win 1957 City League Title

Villanova Is Favored Tonight In NCAA Meet

NEW YORK (UP) —Villanova, boasting a powerful combination of United States and foreign stars, is favored to wrest the coveted team title from Manhattan tonight in the IC4A indoor track and field championships at Madison Square Garden.

Ron Delany, Charley Jenkins, Phil Reavis, Don Bragg and Alex Breckenridge make up Villanova's "big five." Each is favored to win an individual event and provide 25 of the 35 to 40 points the Pennsylvania school will need to keep Manhattan's well - balanced squad from retaining team honors.

Delany, newly - crowned Olympic 1,500-meter champion and Ireland's latest athletic hero, is the only sub-four minute miler ever to run in the IC4A meet. Only a broken leg can keep him from winning his 13th straight indoor mile.

Jenkins, the Olympic 400-meter champion from Cambridge, Mass., is favored to win the 600-yard run. Reavis of Somerville, Mass., is a good bet to crack the meet standard of six feet, 7¼ inches in the high jump because he has done better in his last two starts. Bragg is a threat to his meet mark of 15 feet, 2 inches in the pole vault.

Breckenridge, a Scot who captured the IC4A outdoor two - mile title for Villanova last year, is favored to add the indoor crown at this distance.

Manhattan's favorites are Ken Bantum, defending in the shot put, and Lou Knight in the 60-yard high hurdles.

Dave Sime, the Duke sprinter making his 1957 New York debut, Herb Carper of Pitt, George Sydnor of Villanova and Bob Kyasky of Army top the 60-yard dash field. Rod Perry of Penn State defends in the hurdles. Ike Matza of New York University heads the 1,000-yard field. George Bixby of Dartmouth is given a good chance to win the 35-pound weight throw. Mike Herman of NYU and Ira Davis of LaSalle head the broad jump list.

Top Field, in Santa Anita Derby Today

ARCADIA, Calif. (UP) —A classfield of three-year-olds fight it out today in the $144,500 Santa Anita Derby for the honor of being tabbed the top Western prospect in the sophomore division as well as nearly $100,000 in cash.

Heading the 14 colts and geldings named for the mile and an eighth classic at equal weights of 118 pounds was Gen. W. W. Kratz' Prince Khaled.

But he was expected to be challenged by an Eastern invader. Round Table, purchased last month by Oklahoma oilman Travis M. Kerr.

Turf followers generally gave Prince Khaled and Round Table their highest rating but the field was loaded with speedy colts that could win without causing it to be termed too much of an upset.

Among these are Joe Price who will be teamed with Round Table, Irisher and Gaelic Gold.

Prince Khaled also is part of an entry, running coupled with Golden One. Blue Spruce, Royal Academy and Royal Heir also go coupled. The rest of the field is made up of Swirling Abbey, Sir William, Promised Land, Mystic Eye and Buford.

MHS Already Has Cage Card for Next Year

An attractive exhibition schedule has been arranged for the 1957-58 Monessen High basketballers, it was announced today by Athletic Dircetor Everett Pancook.

The Greyhound dribblers will meet McKeesport, Johnstown, Duquesne and the Alumni at home. Road games are scheduled at Greensburg, Uniontown, Farrel and Aliquippa.

"Of course the schedule depends on the WPIAL Basketball Committee's reaction to our request to be moved into another section," said Pancook.

It's no secret the Greyhounds would like to join the Mckeesport-Duquesne crowd. If they are shifted into the down-river league, then they'll have to look for two new exhibitions foes to replace the Tigers are Dukes.

Pancook said the 1957-58 schedule has been set up on the assumption that Monessen will stay in Section 5. Reportedly several other valley schools are not interested in moving to another league.

In the past the WPIAL Basketball Committee has attempted to preserve rivalries. Presumably Monessen would not be moved into another section without Charleroi and Donora. There is sentiment in both communities against such a switch.

In addition to the eight exhibition games, the Greyhounds will take part in a holiday tournament planned by the Movie Club at the MHS gym after Christmas.

Pancook explained that the Alumni game has been added to balance the schedule to provide four home and four away games. Moreover he pointed out that the tussle should prove most interesting since several Monessen grads are now playing for college quints.

The Monessen High schedule will be about the same 1958-59 too.

Only one foe will be dropped: Farrell. Greyhound officials figure the trip is entirely too long, particularly in bad weather.

Peplacing Farrell in 1958 will be Hempfield High.

Pancook also has another problem facing him in 1958. He has to find another date for the McKeesport game. Under new rules, no games may be played before Dec. 1, beginning in '58. A long-term contract with the Tigers called for the tussle to be staged the last week in November as the season opener for both schools.

Tentatively here are the exhibition dates for next season:

November 29 - McKeesport.

December 3 - at Greensburg; 6 - Johnstown; 10 at Uniontown; 13 - Duquesne; 17 - at Farrell; 20 - at Aliquippa; 23 - Alumni.

Bicker over Seating for Cage Contest

ST. MARYS, Pa. (UP) — St. Marys Central Catholic High School said today Erie Cathedral Prep has banned its adult fans and local newspapermen from a championship basketball game scheduled for Sunday at the Erie school's gymnasium.

St. Marys, in a complaint lodged with the Pennsylvania Assn., said Erie Cathedral has limited the visiting squad to only 11 players, two coaches, athletic director and official scorekeeper.

Cheerleaders may accompany the St. Marys student body, but the leaders will not be permitted seats. No adults, even parents of the players, or newspapermen from St. Marys will be permitted access to the Erie gymnasium, St. Marys charged.

St. Marys was host to Erie Cathedral last Jan. 6 in a game which ended in a near riot. Fist fights erupted on the floor and in the stands as the game ended with St. Marys ahead 55-51.

To Decide Title

Sunday's game will help decide the Class A championship in the Erie Catholic Diocese. Should St. Marys win, the school takes the title and meets Pittsburgh Central Catholic in state playoffs. A victory for Erie Cathedral would require a third game between the two schools.

Erie Cathedral officials have ruled the game will not be played anywhere in Pennsylvania. A third game, if necessary, has been tentatively scheduled for Jamestown, N.Y., St. Marys officials said.

The series between the Erie and St. Marys parochial schools was resumed this season for the first time in 11 years. The schools had played regularly but, in 1946, relations between the schools were severed because of existing bad blood.

Palmerton Captures Lehigh Valley Title

By BURTON W. SIGLIN

Palmerton, Tamaqua and Hollidaysburg captured their respective league titles Friday night to qualify for the statewide basketball playoffs — the big payoff in schoolboy court circles.

Palmerton, runner-up for the state Class "A" title in 1956, shattered Whitehall, 74-48, to retain its Lehigh Valley League crown. Whitehall had forced a playoff for the second half title Tuesday by eking out a two-point victory over the Blue Bombers.

Tamaqua's 61-55 conquest of Nesquehoning gave the Blue Raiders the Black Diamond League title and a spot in the District 11 eliminations. Nesquehoning will represent the circuit in the Class "B" tournament.

Hollidaysburg made its season mark 18 wins against two losses and wrapped up the Mountain League title by felling Tyrone, 78-48. Hollidaysburg thus captured the second-half crown after defeating Lewistown in a playoff for the first-half flag.

Old orge Wins

Old Forge clinched second round honors in the Lackawanna League with a 77-56 thrashing of Taylor. The Blue Devils will face Scranton Central's first-half champions for the overall league title at Scranton next Tuesday.

Kane's 55-52 victory over Clearfield forced the losers into playing a postponed game against last place Curwensville in the District Nine Class A League race. A win will give Clearfield the title but Bradford can tie if Curwensville comes through with an upset.

A Pitt Field House doubleheader saw Scott (Section 7) upset Coraopolis (Section 9) in overtime and Washington win the Section 4 crown by dumping Mt. Lebanon, 54-48. Scott now meets Sharon in the sprawling District 7 eliminations.

Peabody won its Section 1 flag in the Pittsburgh City League by rapping South, 51-47. Peabody and Oliver, Section 2 titlist, meet for the District 8 diadem.

Ashland captured second-half honors in the North Schuylkill League by edging Shenandoah, 57-54 in a playoff. The victorious Black Diamonds now face St. Clair's first round winners for the circuit title.

Reading clinched no worse than a tie for second-half honors in the Central Penn League by upending York, 48-43, as Milton Hershey lost its first game of the second round—to Harrisburg John Harris, 56-52.

Altoona, the first team in the state to clinch a place in its district eliminations, won its 20th game against two losses by ripping Windber, 73-45, in its regular season ender.

Hanover and Chambersburg are deadlocked for the second - half title of the South Penn League with one game to go. Hanover, the first round winner, edged into the tie by blasting Gettysburg, 76-61. Meanwhile defending champion Carlisle was virtually eliminated when it dropped a 68-63 decision to Mechanicsburg.

Nip Viaduct in Thriller, 62-60 At Jr. High Gym

Coach Paul Kunsa's Monessen Cro-Ams nipped Viaduct, 62-60, last night to author the finest record in City League history.

The eyelash decision not only earned the 1957 title for the Cro-Ams, but the victory also gave them the first perfect season in City League history.

The smooth - working Cro-Ams raced through 16 regular season games without a loss. And they handled Viaduct in two straight playoff contests.

Earlier in the week, the Cro-Ams had mauled the defending champion Viaduct cagers by 70-44 count.

The score was a little different last night, but the winner was the same. The poised Cro-Ams had the stuff when it counted.

Take Lead

Kunsa's boys stepped off to a 20-16 lead in the first period, but the Viaduct dribblers — their backs to the wall — came back strong to make the count at intermission, 27-all.

In the third period, Viaduct nudged ahead by a basket.

The final frame was nip and tuck all the way, with the lead going winners ahead at 61-60 in the final back and fourth. Tony Crisi put the moment and Kunsa tossed in a foul with seconds to go to make the final count, 62-60.

Larry Pappini paced the Cro-Ams with 19 points. Crisi chipped in with 18, while Kunsa had 11. The Cro-Ams high-scoring Sam Dominico missed the tussle.

Mesher Top Scorer

High for Viaduct was John Mesher who ripped the cords for 22 points. Dick DiCenzio had 12 and Mike Young 10.

In a preliminary game, the Donora Croatian Club tripped the Monessen Fuocos, 48-45.

John Chatlak paced the winners with 14 points. Leroy Stover had 11 for Monessen.

Young Named Most Valuable In City League

Mike Young, veteran Viaduct cager was named the City League's Most Valuable Player last night.

In a poll of league coaches and officials, Young received eight votes for the honor.

Others who figured in the balloting were Sam Dominico, Cro-Ams, with three votes; Paul Kunsa, Cro-Ams, with one vote, and Leroy Stover, Big Five, with one vote.

Young led Viaduct to two successive utles in 1955 and 1956 and was also the big reason why his team finished as high as second this season.

He averaged 15 5 point per game during the 1956-57 grind.

The Most Valuable Player trophy has been set up by the Monessen Sport Shop.

Predicts Braves Will Go After Schoendienst

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)— Frank Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, maintained today the Braves would have won the National League pennant last season had Red Schoendienst played second base for them.

And he indicated he wouldn't be surprised if Milwaukee made a deal for Schoendienst before the start of the coming season.

Lane disclosed that General Manager John Quinn of the Braves has asked him several times recently what he thought of Schoendienst's arm.

"I keep telling him his arm is as good as it was 10 years ago," Lane said.

Lane recalled that he offered the Braves Schoendienst a year ago for first baseman Joe Adcock and pitcher Bob Buhl.

"I'm convinced they would have won the pennant if they had made the deal," he added. "When they didn't, I traded him to the Giants."

Lane defended that Giants' deal on the grounds he did not figure the Cardinals had a chance to win the pennant last year so he wanted to give rookie Don Blasingame experience.

"If I had thought we had a chance to win it all, I'd have kept Red," he explained. "But that would have meant Blasingame would have sat on the bench for most of the season."

After Schoendienst was traded to the Giants he was out for several weeks with a sore shoulder, but came back to play brilliant ball.

Yankees Have All Signed

By UNITED PRESS

The seven other teams in the American League today found themselves in a familiar position —chasing the New York Yankees.

The world champions proudly proclaimed "all hands on deck" when the official date for the opening of spring training was reached Friday, while each of their seven league rivals counted holdouts in their ranks.

Leading the holdout parade were the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians with four players each. The Bosox "rebels" were Jim Piersall, Sammy White, Billy Klaus and Gene Stephens. Cleveland still needed the signatures of Chico Carrasquel, Rudy Regalado, Dick Tomanek and John Gray.

Still Unsigned

The other unsigned American League players were Ellis Kinder, Jim McDonald and Tom Brown of the White Sox; Roy Sievers, Clint Courtney and Evelio Hernandez of the Senators; Willie Miranda of the Orioles; Mickey McDermott and Tom Morgan of the Athletics, and Gil Coan of the Tigers.

There were only three unsigned players in the entire National League — Lew Burdette and Bill Bruton of the Braves and Sandy Amoros of the Dodgers.

Sign Stragglers

The Tigers signed three of their "stragglers," — Billy Hoeft, Eddie Robinson and Roy Hawes—just before launching their full-scale drills Friday at Lakeland, Fla. Bubbling with optimism, rookie Manager Jack Tighe gave the 41-player Detroit squad an old-time pep talk before the practice session.

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Hal Smith and Hector Lopez finally came to terms with the Athletics. Manager Lou Boudreau then sent the A's through morning and afternoon drills, which featured the lusty hitting of Bob Cerv and Gus Zernial.

Pitt, Dukes in Final Road Tests Tonight

By UNITD PRESS

The University of Pittsburgh is at Penn State and Duquesne meets St. Francis at Johnstown, Pa., tonight in the last big week end of scheduled collegiate basketball play in Western Pennsylvania.

On the road games rest postseason tourney hopes for both the Panthers and the Dukes. The squads are looking for bids from the National Invitational Tourney in New York but losses would end their hopes.

The Panthers, boasting a 14-9 card, will be looking for revenge in their outing against the Nittany Lions. Penn State, with a 15-9 record picked up a 75-66 victory on the Panthers home court earlier in the season.

Duquesne (14-7) scored an easy 83-61 victory in its home meeting with St. Francis of Loretto (11-11) and is looking for a walk in tonight's match on a neutral floor. The Frankies' big center Jim McClellan, high scorer for the squad, has been dropped from the line-up because of scholastic difficulties.

In action Friday night, the Steubenville Barons captured their 41st consecutive home court triumph by downing Adelphia of New York, 73-61.

Grove City defeated Alliance, 94-69, and LeMoyne edged Gannon, 80-75.

Archie Plans To Quit June 8

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)— Win or lose, Archie Moore has made up his mind that he will retire after a final defense of his light heavyweight June 7 at Detroit.

The aging champion announced at his ranch near here Friday that the bout against the winner of the April 5 fight between Cuhck Speiser and Tony Anthony will be his last.

The first minimum wage laws were promulgated at least 4,000 years ago when King Hammurabi of Babylonia established a code which not only set a minimum wage but also provided that season workers be paid a higher rate.

Buc Pitchers Hit by Injuries

FT. MYERS, Fla. (UP)—Pitching staff injuries, which manager Bobby Bragan said cost the team 10 victories and fourth place last year, are plaguing the Pittsburgh Pirates again.

Bob Friend, Roger Sawyer and Joe Trimble came down with assorted sprains and bumps in the opening week of training at spring quarters here. Team physician Dr. Joe Finegold said none of the injuries were serious.

Friend turned his right ankle Friday and had to spend most of the day with his leg in a whirlpool. Sawyer, a southpaw from Hollywood, suffered a spike gash on his left ankle. Trimble developed a swollen left knee which required taping.

Trimble is the first of last year's ailing list to join the 1957 sick roster. Other pitchers injured last year were Nellie King, Bob Garber, Vernon Law and Bob Purkey.

Argentine Sets Tourney Pace

MEXICO CITY (UP)— Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina shot a four under par 68 Friday to retain his lead in the Mexican National Open Golf Tournament by one stroke.

Sportsmen Banquet Here Next Tuesday

Hal Harrison, noted outdoors writer, will headline the 17th annual Monessen Sportsmen's Association banquet on Tuesday at the First Methodist Church.

Harrison will narrate his latest motion picture production "Beyond the Shining Mountains." The film covers the same route as that followed by the famed Rogers and Clark expedition.

Harrison is no newcomer to the banquet. He proved such a big hit that he was brought back by popular demand.

Every year the banquet has lured a capacity crowd and this year's fete appears to be no exception. Besides Harrison, there will be short talks by George Norris and Robert Parlaman, supervisors of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

To Make Welcome

Carl Garrick, president of the Sportsmen's Association will serve as master of ceremonies. Invocation will be offered by Rev. Lloyd S. Erb, pastor of the First Baptist Church while Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, administrator of St. Leonard's Church will pronounce the benediction.

Bold Ruler in Big Test Today

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) —Bold Ruler, Wheatley Stable's Kentucky Derby hopeful, faced an acid test today when he led a field of seven three-year-olds to the post in the $131,400 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park.

Nevertheless, the well-built son of Nasrullah was an even money favorite to beat Calumet Farm's entry of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege, Can Hoy Stable's One-Eyed King, John A. Morris' Missile, John L. Applebaum's Mister Jive and Clifford Lussky's Federal Hill.

Each starter carried 122 pounds in the Flamingo.

Scott, Washington Win in WPIAL Tourney Action

By UNITED PRESS

WPIAL Section 7 champion Scott came from behind for an overtime victory in its Class A first round game at the Pitt Fieldhouse Friday night and Washington edged its way on the same court to the title in Section 4.

Scott, trailing Section 9 winner Coraopolis, 26-25, at halftime, knotted the game up 55-all at the close of regulation time and then went on to win 64-61.

With 23 seconds remaining in the extra session, Bob Tomasic of Scott dropped in one of two free throws to break a 61-all tie and give his teammates the edge for good. Willie Glaze iced the victory for Scott with a field goal with nine seconds remaining.

George Zilko of Scott led all scorers with 20 points for the evening. Norm Maxwell was next for Coraopolis with 19 tallies.

James (Beanie) Gordon pumped in 18 points to pace Washington to its 54-48 victory over Mt. Lebanon for the Section 4 crown.

Washington maintained a 26-21 midway edge to gain the victory.

Charles Reinhold paced the Blue Devils with 13 points.

In play-off activity tonight, West Newton meets Perryopolis at Connellsville for the Section 17 Class B title.

Carolina Finishes Unbeaten

By EARL WRIGHT

Lennie Rosenbluth sparked the North Carolina Tar Heels to major college basketball's only perfect record this season, but don't expect Coach Frank McGuire to flash his biggest smile for a few weeks yet.

McGuire's Tar Heels ended their regular campaign with a 24-0 record Friday night when they invaded Durham, N.C., and handed Duke its first home court defeat of the season, 86-72. Rosenbluth scored 40 points, including eight in the last three minutes after Duke had rallied to lead, 70-69.

But McGuire and his players can't relax. The Atlantic Coast Conference stages a tournament to select its representative in the NCAA championships and North Carolina must sweep three games next week to assure itself a berth in the national competition.

UCLA Beats California

At Berkeley, Calif., Dick Banton's 25 points helped fifth-ranked UCLA edge a half-game ahead of California in the Pacific Conference race with a 71-66 victory. The game was marred by brief fights on the floor and in the stands. It promises to be an interesting weekend at Berkeley, because the two leaders clash again Saturday night.

Brigham Young, led by John Benson and Harry Anderson, clinched at least a tie for the Skyline Conference title by trouncing last-place New Mexico, 67-41.

The Dayton Flyers ended their regular season with an 18-8 record when they visited the University of Cincinnati and won, 67-63. Both Dayton and Cincinnati will play in the National Invitation Tournament.

Temple, scrambling for a tournament bid, increased its chances by upsetting St. Bonaventure, 72-69, in overtime at Philadelphia. St. Bonaventure, already in the NIT, couldn't cope with Mel Brodsky and Guy Rodgers, who scored 22 and 21 points, respectively.

Scoring Lead At Stake

Grady Wallace of South Carolina, leading the close major college scoring race with a 30.48-point average, ends his regular season tonight against Clemson. Wilt Chamberlain, who ranks fourth with a 29.2 average, leads Kansas, the nation's No. 2 team, in a game at Colorado. Chet Forte, the 5-9 star who stands fifth with 29.14, leads Columbia at Pennsylvania.

Joe Gibbon of Mississippi, second with 30.05, and Elgin Baylor of Seattle, third with 30.0, have ended their regular campaigns.

Indiana and Michigan State, sharing first place, clash Saturday night in an important Big Ten game. Yale, the Ivy League leader, meets Harvard while St. Louis, first in the Missouri Valley Conference, plays Houston.

Equally sensational is Philco's brilliant, room flooding "Out-Front" Sound System, even in low priced horizontal consoles. No matter what the program—"You are there!" It's like sitting with the director inside the TV studio control room. Because of this brilliant and dynamic achievement in realism, Philco Television for 1957 bears the registered symbol of Diamond D.

Pictures as much as 50% brighter! New Philco - developed circuit so spectacular in performance it produces, by actual light meter tests, pictures with up to twice the brightness of other TV.

Never before sound so crystal clear! Invented and patented by Philco, this amazing new "electronic link" makes possible crystal clear dynamic sound even at lowest signal levels.

Sound Out Front

Roush's Gulf Service Ready For Motorists

You'll always find that Roush's Gulf Service Station, at the corner of Manown and Schoonmaker in Monessen, is ready to take care of the motorist with real service and fine Gulf products.

John Roush, the proprietor, takes a personal interest in each of his customers and sees to it they get value received and prompt attention. As a result this station has increased steadily in patronage and is gaining more every week.

Now with this area having experienced a pretty cold Winter every car owner should drive to Roush's Gulf Service periodically and have the car checked over.

He'll look to see if your battery needs water, or perhaps a charge so that it will give you quicker starter on a cold morning. He'll check your tires to see if they are properly inflated. Have him drain old oil from the crankcase and put new Gulf oil in every 1,000 miles. Oil is the life of your motor. At the same period of driving time get your car lubricated. Here again lubrication means less costly garage repair bills, better performance, longer life for vital wearing parts.

When you stop to consider how much more it is going to cost you to replace it, then you shouldn't begrudge the small cost of an oil drain and lubrication job.

The satisfaction you'll get from better car performance, happier motoring is worth it, too.

Remember, drive in to Roush's Gulf Service for real service. This station also gives TV Stamps.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Pietro Caruso, who died 4 years ago tomorrow, March 3, 1953.
Gone, dear loved one, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by Children and Grandchildren.

Marine Drill Sergeant Cleared By Court-martial

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (UP)—A court-martial board cleared a Marine drill sergeant Friday of charges that he forced a recruit to stuff himself with candy until he choked.

The same board that found Sgt. Daniel J. Corey, 28, of Somerville, Mass., innocent of four maltreatment counts also reduced the sentence of another drill instructor convicted of hitting a recruit at this Marine training camp.

Former Sgt. Charles L. Jones of Pensacola, Fla., earlier was sentenced to 30 days in the brig, ordered to pay a $50 fine and reduced to private first class for striking Pvt. George D. Toper, 20 of Watertown, N.Y.

However, the summary court martial board reduced Jones' sentence to a fine of $20, downgraded his rank to corporal and threw out his imprisonment.

Corey appeared before the board during a four-hour hearing to answer charges that he forced Pvt. John J. Barone, 18, of Chester, Pa., to stuff himself with candy, threw down another recruit, Pvt. Thomas Hayes, 19, of Lawrence, Mass., with his legs and that he witnessed Jones strike Toper.

However, Barone testified that Corey only told him to eat the candy and did not order him. The recruit said he ate several pieces of candy, choked and then quit.

Girl Scouts in Triad Area In Mother-Daughter Banquet

The significance of Girl Scouting around the world was emphasized Thursday night when the Brownies and Girl Scouts of the Triad Area entertained their mothers at the annual Mother-Daughter banquet at Twin Coaches. The banquet theme was "Juliet Low, Our Mother".

Covers were laid for 227 guests. The Triad Area includes Lynnwood, Washington and Jefferson Townships.

Table arrangements were in keeping with the Girl Scout birthday and the international theme. The guest table was arranged with spring flowers and a large birthday cake. Triangles held individual flags of many nations.

Each troop was indicated at its table by the Girl Scout emblem bearing the troop number. At the end of each table was a scene depicting the country represented by the troop. Booklets and favors in the Girl Scout theme marked each cover.

Troop 39 represented Japan; Troop 44, Belgium; Troop 27, Italy; Troop 48, England; Troop 10, Philippines; Troop 40, Ireland; Troop 56, Switzerland; Troop 29, France; Troop 50, Poland; Troop 11, Israel; Troop 60, Netherlands and Troop 57, Germany.

Flag Ceremony

Mrs. Mary Males led in the singing of grace and after the serving, Mrs. Georgina Superfisky, Triad chairman, extended the welcome. Mrs. Dorothy Hawk, Triad organization chairman, served as toastmaster.

The program began with the flag ceremony in which every troop was represented with the presentation of the American, Girl Scout, World Friendship, troop flags and flags of many nations. During this ceremony Yvonne Waite sang "Our Flag" accompanied by Judy Pahoisky.

Mrs. Edwin A. Dawson, who heads the Monessen-Belle Vernon Area Girl Scout Council, spoke briefly commending the girls, leaders and mothers for their part in the Girl Scout movement. She also asked for additional help from the parents since there are more girls wishing to form troops.

Mrs. Marion Husher, Triad Juliet Low chairman, was introduced and gave a resume of the Scouting since the founding of Boy Scouting 100 years ago and the Girl Guides years later by Juliet Low. Each of the troops then presented the birthday money to Mrs. Husher and it was placed inside the large "cardboard cake" and a candle was lighted for each contribution. The assemblage joined in singing "Happy Birthday Girl Scouts".

Mrs. Superfisky gave a brief talk and announced a Court of Awards to be held on March 14, at Marion Junior High School.

Storms and Sniffles Linked

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Beware of storm fronts. Not only do such conditions mean bad weather, they also might mean bad colds.

A unique joint investigation made by a private weather forecasting company and a pharmaceutical firm has revealed that there is a 50 to 75 per cent increase in cases of common colds following closely on the heels of meteorological changes which the weather forecasters call storm fronts.

This seems to establish a definite link between storms and sniffles.

Several factors appear to be involved in the weather's triggering an outbreak of colds.

First, there usually is fair weather and a temperature somewhat above average. Then there is a sharp drop in temperature coupled with increased rainfall, wide day-to-night temperature range and higher humidity as well as wind velocity.

If you live in a dry area, the rain, snow, humidity and cloudiness factors are more important than for someone living in a normally wet area.

The joint study, the first of its kind, was conducted in two stages.

First, the daily sales of cold tablets were recorded in cities throughout the country. Then the weather records for each city were analyzed.

The researchers found that sales of cold tablets mushroomed after storm fronts struck the various areas.

What does all this mean to you? Well, for one thing, it enables weather bureaus to predict fairly well in advance the likelihood of an outbreak of colds in specific areas.

The National Weather Institute in Los Angeles, which participated in the study, says the Atlanta, Ga., and Miami, Fla., areas can expect to have more cases of colds than usual from now until about March 4.

When the newspaper, radio or television weather reports for your community forecast storm fronts, you can take special precautions to protect yourself against fatigue, chilling and other things which help lower your resistance.

Question and Answer

H. N.: Why aren't mastoid operations performed as frequently as they once were?

Answer: Because of the use of the new antibiotic drugs. Symptoms do not progress to the severe stage which requires operations.

A PROVERB IS AN EXPRESSION OF A WELL-KNOWN TRUTH, OR A RULE OF CONDUCT. FOR EXAMPLE, "THE EARLY BIRD CATCHES THE WORM." CAN YOU QUOTE ANY MORE OFT-REPEATED PROVERBS?
SURE HOW ABOUT: "DRINK YOUR MILK OR YOU'LL GROW UP SKINNY LIKE UNCLE FRED"?
OR: "IF YOU DON'T WEAR YOUR SWEATER YOU'LL CATCH COLD AND THE DOCTOR WILL HAVE TO COME AND GIVE YOU A NEEDLE"?
I HAVE ONE: "IF YOU DON'T HANG UP YOUR CLOTHES WE'LL NEVER BUY YOU ANY MORE!"
-AND THERE'S ALWAYS: "TAKE CARE OF YOUR BICYCLE OR WE'LL GIVE IT TO STUART, WHO WILL APPRECIATE IT MORE!"
